How we achieve meaningful and impactful recovery Post COVID-19 is on the minds of our public officials at the City of Dallas. With restrictions lifting and the economy slowly re-opening, we must determine the best way forward. Dr. Eric Anthony Johnson, Chief of Economic Development & Neighborhood Services and David Noguera, Director of Housing and Neighborhood Revitalization will discuss how the City of Dallas is considering ways to initiate a stable and resilient recovery.

Bonton Farms was an agricultural intervention to restore lives, create jobs and ignite hope in the most forgotten and neglected neighborhoods for the most marginalized and vulnerable people. Bonton Farms has positively changed the lives and minds of a forgotten Dallas community and now they need our help. Due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, the farm is experiencing difficult financial times and the GDPC wants to do its part to help sustain this important community asset. As a result, a portion of all monies collected for this virtual meeting will be donated to the Dallas Bonton Farms. Thank you for your support.

ABOUT GDPC:

The Greater Dallas Planning Council's mission is to shape, promote, and advocate a creative, sustainable future for the Dallas region.

The Greater Dallas Planning Council (GDPC), founded in 1946, is the oldest Dallas area civic organization that focuses on issues shaping regional growth. The members of the GDPC address a range of issues from a broad range of community and professional perspectives. The GDPC's membership is comprised of a group of successful professionals from architect design firms, planning consultants, construction and engineering firms, developers, real estate industry leaders, community and civic organizations, corporations and municipal entities. The GDPC membership also includes elected or appointed officials. The GDPC members evaluate local and regional policies to promote the long-term sustainability of the City of Dallas and surrounding region.

Growth, urban design issues, economic development, transportation, water issues, energy and education remain a core focus of the organization. A variety of issue task forces bring together professionals concerned about the future of the region and evaluate policies and new design concepts. The members of the task forces evaluate information, invite area leaders to their meetings and develop policy recommendations that are forwarded to local leaders and the media. GDPC has a strong history of involvement and influence!
